

It would appear as though the Injectees have created a religion. The very dynamics of this religion could be used to our advantage. In this document I will summarize some points of the religion;

1. Terash (the Voice): an invisible leader of the Injectees, supposedly the first person to be injected (whom was lost during phase 3 of the tests)
2. Origin: the belief that the Injections are not manmade but rather from 'Divine Intervention.' They also claim to be the next evolutionary stage of humanity.
3. Divine Proclamation:
 - Spread the injections to all of humanity
 - Exterminate all those who resist the power of the injections
 - Corrupt the inner structure of any and all government authorities to make way for the 'New Empire'
4. The Living Universe- similar to the "Liverse" fanatics from the earlier 90's, however instead of the universe being a physical—living—being, they insist that everything in the universe (be it rock or human) is living. They have a system—similar to the food chain—in which they 'rank' life. In which they list themselves as Homo Supersapiens.
5. Prophets: according to the Injectees, there are six prophets and two 'lords'
 - Terash- An invisible leader of the Injectees, supposedly the first person to be injected. Given batch BR-33D109, this subject disappeared instantaneously. Soon thereafter the subject was spotted outside of the designated area, reports varied on what happened to him after that. But as of now he is labeled as MIA.
 - Scorched Son- Another one of our first Subjects, given batch C217F. This subject did NOT survive the first 48hrs.
 - The Mother- Known to us as "Margret" she was the first successful Injectees. Given batch MX-913 (now known as W913), Margret's cognitive ability skyrocketed. Her abilities—which have been reported as: psychokinesis, telekinesis, and Introverted-reality [ability to remove or block out the physical world from any 'target']. Her increased 'abilities' are most likely due to her taking twice the normal amount of the injection.
 - The First Born Son- One of the only surviving "super Infants" to come out of the batch testing. The First Born Son should be only 3 years of age—however the injection given to it during (or soon thereafter) conception, it is now believed to be physically an adult. The mental capacity is currently unknown.

Further Research is required on the subject at hand, but we do know this for a fact—this can either work for or against us, up until now the Injectees have treated us with the upmost respect, but if they find a greater being, this may change rapidly.
