

I found these interesting dictums in “Ianus Verum” a manuscript written in 1621. Loosely translated it says,

“Three dark demons(strangers) came from the dark place (vessel? ship?). Precious to us, bane to them are Light and Water. Many citizens (people?) were taken to the dark place and so they were satisfied (assuaged?)and went back to where they came from. Promising to take no more until 400 years had passed.”

It’s interesting given the same phenomena appears to be happening right now.
