

December 10th 2003

Taylor is a very sweet girl, slow to anger. So far, nothing violent has happened in the slightest. I wonder if Adam and Karen were... the word that comes to mind is "bad batches." Perhaps, whatever they are, their oddness caused their ~~wives~~ wives to cross?

But then why is Taylor different?
Is it because she is older?
Or that she simply hides her tendencies better?

December 17th, 2003

I think that Taylor is coming to terms with being schizophrenic. She has admitted that she does not think her friend is real. I hope the Pattern doesn't think ill of me by not sending her there. I honestly do not see the need to.