

May 5th, 2011

The Pattern took contact and left him on ~~with~~ my doorstep, with a phonia. He said a medical hospital, not the Pattern itself, did the operation. I don't know what the operation itself was exactly, and he won't tell me. He's taken to wearing turtle necks to cover his scars, so I can't tell if he has a stoma or not.

He can't speak, but he can use pen + paper. He said he's back in good standing with the Pattern, as long as he remembers to keep secrets and do as he is told.

I doubt he will be forgetting that any time soon...

He's still watching over me, making sure I fulfill my contract. I've been stalling on the website, for obvious reasons.